

WHAT IS IT?

Positive Narration is the act of describing OUT LOUD the actions of students that are performing desired behaviors and tasks. Immediately after giving directions, look for students who are showing expected behaviors and are following the directions you just gave. Then simply narrate, or describe, what you see those students doing.

IMPACT?

Positive narration provides a verbal cue for off task students and highlights the importance of expectations for all students. Overall it focuses on well being of all students by focusing on positive over negative thoughts, leading to optimistic thoughts and more caring actions.
